

I have been committed to the human rights of Palestinians for many years, including as an MP when I have lobbied the Government, asked parliamentary questions, and so forth. I shall continue to do all I can to bring about a two-state solution in which all the citizens of the region can enjoy peace and justice.